

Abstract

The present invention concerns a method for the continuous production of biodiesel from biogenic fat- or oil-containing starting mixtures with a high content of free fatty acids as well as a device for producing biodiesel.